The blowing of whistles by the boats and tugs in port yesterday caused an alarm of fire to prevail throughout the city. This should not be permitted, because the result will be, if the thing is repeated often, that when a boat in port does take fire, no one will pay attention to the whistling alarm, and the vessel will be destroyed before the fire-engines can be summoned.

all the keepers of houses of ill-fame in the city were up to answer indictments. They of course pleaded guilty, and were fined five dollars each, which, with costs, amount to about seventeen and one-half dollars, exclusive of lawyers' fees, in each case. The prosecutiou of such cases result only in revenue for the officials and State, and does not look to the suppression of such places, which is the only point looked at by the law. In a few of the cases a motion was made to suppress them as being disorderly.

—Sunday afternoon an inquest was held by Daputy-Coroner Smith upon the body of a waite infant found buried in a box on the bank of Wolf river, north of the waterworks. The body was discovered by some men who were fishing. The box was dug up, and it contained the body of a white infant that had evidently been buried some three weeks, and at the time of death was probably a few hours old. The front part of the skull had been badly fractured. The jury of inquest returned a verdict that death had resuited from violence at the hands of some person unknown.

The Season for Summer Jaunts The Season for Summer Jaunts Is upon us, and many of our readers are debating the question of where they shall go to spend the heated term. Not the mere fact of going into the country to board constitutes anything worthy the name of recreation.
The locality might be unhealthy, the food badly cooked and served, and the society anything but do a rable or agreeable, while a dearth of amusement would cause a suffering loiterer to almost die of ennoi. What one needs is a cool bracing atmosphere one needs is a cool, bracing atmosphere, pleasant accommodations and surroundings, r fined and cheerful society and varied means of amusement, including drives, walks, fishing, boating, archery, tenpins, billiards, music and dancing. Then the character of the food and the manner in which it is served should be stimulating to the appetite and di-gestion and promotive of that good-humored complacency that makes one feel satisfied with existence. Above all, the situation should be such that the nights will be cool and pleasant, removing by their tonic influ-ence the debilitating effects of the daily heat. All these desiderate are within the reach of Il these desiderata are within the reach of our readers, and at an exceptionally reasonable cost. The location, surroundings and management of Bailey Springs, Alabams, enable them to offer the summer tourist health-giving waters, an excellent table, all the popular amusements, and the most re-fined and unpretending society in the south, while the reduced rates of board and the exrsion rates on the railroads make it a mat

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

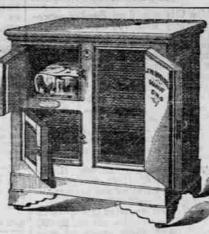

EDITORS APPEAL-You were the first t cound the keynote on behalf of the working ness houses, for which you have the heartfelt amen of a large majority. There have size be a several pointed letters written by "Bacyrus" and "T. H. C." The causes, sanitarily and otherwise, have been plainly put. In the fall and writer the hours are from eight in the morning until six in the evening; and as con as the heated term se's in, with all of its malarial influences, including badly vent lated stores, with low ceilings, and gas jets turning from five to sometimes after seven o'clock in the evening. Lengthening the hours at this time, to say the least, is not calculated to be conducive to longe vity. Memphis is noted for many things, and last but not least, the liberality of its merchants. To be brief, how many are willing to close up their places of business at six o'clock, sharp, from business at six o'clock, sharp, now to the fifteenth of September? each one acting for himself and for the general good. There is no doubt in my mind but that the same amount of business would be done, and in the meantime employe would feel like straining a point, and in waiting on a customer would feel encouraged to increase the sales, instead of diminishing them. And customers, on the other hand, would scon conform themselves to the new order of things and do their shopping before six o'clock at night, besides being assured that they would receive many a "God bless
